MILITIA INSPECTION TO BEGIN APRIL 2

Guardsmen Must Appear in Marching Equipment.

GEN. HARRIES ISSUES ORDERS

Department Officials Will Omit Everything Not Pertaining to Actual Field Work—Expert Revolver Shots Will Be at Gallery to Instruct Officers in Marksmanship.

Orders for the annual inspection of the District Militia, to be held April 2 to 5 next, were issued from the office of Brig. Gen. George H. Harries yesterday. Inspection will be made upon service, equipment only, it being the purpose of department officials to omit everything not pertaining to actual field work.

The inspection will require the men to appear in khaki uniform, with regulation marching equipment, including overcoat, blanket, cumb, poncho, soap, towel, toothbrush, and extra pair of stockings. Rifle cartridges and blanket rolls will also be carried. Officers are to appear in regular field uniform, with saber, revolver, canteen, field glass, watch, compass, notebook, and pencils.

Should inspect Equipment. All property available for field service or of use in connection for preparation for field work, will be included. Equipment in the property rooms is to be previously sorted and arranged for inspection by details of the men. The members of the militia are urged to inspect their equipment immediately, so that needed articles may be placed in requisition and issued within the week.

Considerable data not required in previous years will be called for in the inspection. Among the additional questions which will be asked are the number of men who have been in the service less than three months; the number of men discharged who have not been re-enlisted; the number of discharged men who had completed the three years' service; the aggregate strength at the last inspection; the number of days spent in camp; the number of drills and inspections held during the year; the number of officers and men who performed less than 25 per cent of the military duty required, exclusive of camp instruction; number of officers and men who have fired the "marksmanship" record course during the year, and the questions of whether complete detailed records are kept showing individual assembly attendance.

Shooting Gallery Reserved. For the special purpose of placing officers upon a higher plane in regard to revolver marksmanship, the Center Market shooting gallery has been reserved for their use on the first three Saturday nights of January, February, and March. Expert revolver shots will be present to give instruction.

Officers are also urged to join the Revolver Association, and in preparation for the inspection drills they are asked to attend the instruction school at the First Separate Battalion school at the battalion armory.

These discharges of enlisted men were announced at the militia headquarters yesterday: Account removal from the District—Mechanic Angus C. Ferguson, First Battery, Field Artillery; Private Oscar D. Wayland, Company C, First Regiment. Without honor—Private Edward J. Connolly, Howard Linkins, William W. Martin, Philip Schloven, Charles R. Scott, Thomas Welch, and B. S. Wyndham, all of Company C, First Regiment.

Winter Sports in the Alps.

The winter sports in the Swiss Alps have begun in good shape. The stream of visitors which began before Christmas continues to flow. There is immense activity among all the sports clubs; expectations are running high, and great enthusiasm is being developed. Visitors are, indeed, filled with the liveliest anticipations, and the Americans present expect plenty of excitement on the great ice rink, 11,000 square feet in area, and the Schatzalp Run, with its two-mile length and drop of 1,000 feet. Among the Americans who arrived early are Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Cooper, Mr. A. B. Chase, from Davenport, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Peterson and Mr. E. D. and Miss Wilma Peterson, from La Crosse, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Hanchette, from Hagerstown, Capt. L. F. Smith, and from Helena, Mrs. Mary C. Mills.
